H.B. Railway Not Open Until Spring

Hon. C. A. Dunning, minister of railways and canals, announced Tuesday that, after consultation with officials of the Canadian National Railways, the conclusion had been reached that it would be unwise to establish public passenger and freight service over the new railway to Churchill this fall, or to encourage excursion parties. By next spring the road will be ready for formal opening.

A two million bushel elevator will be built at the port instead of the one million one originally recommended. The elevator and a deep water dock will be ready for use by the fall of 1931.

Wheat Pool News Letter

The Alberta Wheat Pool is making a determined effort to point out to Pool members the importance of delivering Pool grain to Pool elevators where it is possible, in view of the light crop in Alberta this year.

The Pool elevator system was built up for the purpose of giving service and protection to the membership. Three years ago there were four Pool elevators in Alberta. Today there are 437, representing an investment of over $6,000,000 of Pool farmers' money. This investment must be protected.

Pool members should realize that it is a matter of very great importance for the selling agency to have Pool wheat readily available at all times. When Pool wheat is delivered to Pool elevators it is always available to the selling agency.

This great elevator system was developed because Pool farmers insisted that this course be taken. For years the head office of the Wheat Pool has been deluged with requests and even demands for Pool elevators. Now it is up to Pool farmers to show their appreciation of their own system by delivering their wheat to Pool elevators.

The introduction of combines and auto trucks has speeded up harvesting on the Canadian prairies to a remarkable degree. The result has been an unprecedented flow of grain to the elevators during a brief period in the fall. In order to restrict this glut as much as possible the Alberta Wheat Pool is offering a bonus of two cents a bushel for wheat held on farms until December 2nd, 1929. Wheat producers should realize it is not good business to deliver the crop in such a hurried manner that it has a reactionary effect on the market.

The Wheat Pool has not made a practice of compelling Pool farmers to deliver their crop in one crop year. For instance, some Pool farmers have carried wheat from their 1928 crop past the date of the closing of 1929 Pool. No objections have been made by the Pool against this practice. A recent news item issued by the Wheat Pool mentioned that action had been taken against a few Pool members who had not delivered their 1928 wheat to the Pool. This has been construed by some to mean that all Pool wheat should be delivered within the Pool year. As a matter of fact the action was taken because the wheat had been delivered outside the Pool.

Britain and Canada

Canada is honored at the present time by having among its visitors three notable British statesmen, Hon. J. H. Thomas, Minister of Employment in the Ramsay MacDonald Government; Hon. Winston S. Churchill, former Chancellor of the Exchequer, and Mr. Amery, former Minister for the Dominions. Mr. Churchill and Mr. Amery are in Canada on holiday, but they are none the less closely studying conditions and ascertaining the sentiment of this country in regard to vital questions of Empire policy such as immigration, trade and commerce, and the possibilities of closer relationships in matters for the general advancement of both Mother Country and this Dominion.

On the other hand, Mr. Thomas' visit to Canada is made in his official capacity as Minister of Employment with the object of endeavoring to find out in what ways Canada can assist in solving the serious unemployment problem in Britain without doing injury to itself, and, having discovered, or evolved, ways and means to accomplish this object, to secure the co-operation of the Canadian Government and the Canadian people in carrying them into effect.

Fortunately, the first impression created by Mr. Thomas' mission has been removed. As the minister charged with the task of solving the unemployment problem in Britain, it was felt that Mr. Thomas was coming to Canada with the idea of developing some immigration policy whereby large numbers of British unemployed would be transferred to this Dominion. Anxious as Canada may be to have a large proportion of its incoming settlers of British birth, this Dominion is not prepared to have thousands of men dumped into the country solely because they cannot find work at home and who have no training or aptitude for life in this land. Mr. Thomas has made it abundantly clear that he has no such intention; on the contrary, Mr. Thomas declares: "It is not my aim to solve my unemployment problem by creating one for you." Unemployment and immigration are, he says, two quite separate and distinct problems and should be tackled as such.

Then what is Mr. Thomas' proposal to Canada? It is simple, clear-cut, workable, and one that should find favor with, and the sympathetic support of the people of Canada. In a word it is that our large Canadian corporations, and our people generally, should, when making purchases buy British-made goods and articles, if such are not made in Canada, in preference to buying from any other country. He has asked the Dominion Government to give encouragement and support to such a policy. He has sat down in conference with the heads of the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railways and asked them to follow such a policy, too. He has said to the officials of the Canadian Wheat Pool: "Britain is the largest purchaser of your wheat. We are your best customer, just as we are Canada's best customer. Thus, when you require machinery or other things which Canada itself does not manufacture and cannot supply, we ask you to buy from us, rather than from others."

This should appeal to the people of Canada as good business. It is a self-respecting proposal for both parties to it. For example, Mr. Thomas points out that Canada imports over 16,000,000 tons of coal from the United States. He wants, and says he is going to get, some of that coal business for Britain—Canada's best customer—and thereby assist the coal mining industry of the Old Land and supply work for some of the thousands of unemployed miners there, as well as cargoes for British boats, thus providing employment for British dock hands, sailors, and all and sundry having to do with the business of shipping.

Such a policy will strike a responsive chord with the people of Western Canada, who are not particularly favourable to any policy of restrictive tariffs, or other forms of restraint on trade, and who firmly believe that the proper policy for this Dominion to pursue is to offset tariff action by other countries against Canada by further reducing tariffs on British goods and thereby assisting to substitute British-made goods for those of other countries.

The success of such a policy lies largely with the individual Canadian citizen. He can make it a success by stipulating when making any purchases that, first, he must have an article made in Canada, and, if that cannot be obtained, second, that it be British-made. Importers, wholesalers, distributors, retailers, will quickly adjust their stocks to comply with the popular demand.

Leaving all sentiment aside, it is good business for the people of Canada to support and buy from their best customer. The more we buy from Britain, the more Britain can afford to buy from us.

Silver Dollar Out Of Date

Fifty Million In U.S. Treasury But No Demand For Them

The silver dollar has joined the horse and buggy and other remnants of the past and has faded from circulation, while the silver half-dollar is still used in the West, but is going out of use in the East, because quarters are favored for tipping, according to U.S. Treasury officials.

At the present time there are about 50,000,000 silver dollars tied up in the Treasury to back up silver certificates, although they could easily be placed in circulation if there were a demand for them.

Was Victim Of Glacier

Body Of Austrian Recovered After Eighty-Three Years

Eighty-three years ago, Norbert Mattersberger, at the time 32 years old, husband of Magda, and father of Franz Otto, failed to return to his cottage, in the village of Kals, Austria, one day from the dool, where he won his living hunting game. A rescue party from the village decided he had been caught in an avalanche of ice.

Recently Mattersberger came home just as he left that day in 1840. The glacier had given up its prey. Although eleven, according to family records, when he left, he had a two-inch beard when a party of hunters found him on the edge of the glacier. The body, clothes, and weapons were in a perfect state of preservation.

Franz Mattersberger is now 88. His father was buried at Kals, while grandchildren and great-grandchildren mourned at his grave.

WHAT OUR GIRLS NEED

When Languid, Anaemic and Feeling Run Down

When a girl grows languid, dull and irritable, when her color fades and she becomes pale, you may be sure that the cause is anaemia, or impoverished blood. The bright, red color of the blood is caused by the presence in it of millions of tiny red corpuscles. It is these tiny bodies that carry nourishment from the blood to the tissues. They also carry the glow of health in cheeks and lips. When a girl's blood is deficient in these red corpuscles her body is under-nourished, her nerves starved, and there is serious danger of a decline. What is needed is an improvement in the quality of the blood, and it is a scientific fact that a course of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will so enrich and purify the blood that all traces of anaemia and its accompanying weaknesses will disappear.

As an evidence of the value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in cases of this kind, Mrs. John Finlin, Howland Station, P.E.I., says:—"I am glad to take this opportunity of recommending Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. My daughter was in a badly run down condition; very pale, nervous and much under weight. We tried several medicines, but they did not seem to do her any good, so I decided to give her Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Almost from the start she began to improve, and after use of a few boxes she has gained in weight, her appetite improved and she had a better color in her cheeks. In fact she had fully regained her former good health. I would advise every mother of young girls to give them Dr. Williams' Pink Pills at the first sign of an anaemic condition. You can get these pills from any medicine dealer or by mail at 50c a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont."

World Harvest Larger

Wheat Acreage in Many Countries Increased in Last Year

Present indications are that the world acreage of wheat to be harvested in the season 1929-30 will be larger than that of last year. The 1929 wheat acreage in 21 countries is estimated to be five million acres larger than in 1928. Areas reported in all European countries total 56,562,000 acres, an increase of 1.4 per cent. over last year.

These pests attack the tender lining of the intestines and if left to pursue their ravages undisturbed, will ultimately perforate the wall, because these worms are of the book variety that cling to and feed upon the interior surfaces. Wonderful Discovery

Of German Experts

Treatment Given To Living Trees Makes Lumber Partly Fireproof

A thin mineral soup, fed to living trees to make their wood partly fireproof after it has been cut and made into boards, has been invented by experts of the College of Forestry, at Tharandt, Germany. The process is a modification of one invented some time ago to dye the wood of a living tree to any desired colour. For this purpose solutions of the desired dyes were placed in holes bored in the tree close to the ground. As the sap rose the dye went with it, gradually colouring the wood. In the new fireproofing process, the dye solution is replaced by a bowl of the new "soup" containing compounds of silicon and fluorine and other chemical elements, so arranged that the solution flows little by little into a hole bored in the tree trunk. As with the dye solution, these chemicals are absorbed slowly by the tree and carried up by the rising sap into every fibre of the wood. The solution is too diluted to damage the living cells of the tree. Instead, its chemicals are gradually converted into mineral deposits throughout the wood, such as happens in some of the millions of years to wood buried in mineralized ground and slowly turned into stony fossil. To carry this mineralizing process too far in the trees intended for timber is unwise, since the mineral deposits make the wood harder to saw. The German experts claim to have succeeded, however, in mineralizing trees just enough to make their wood almost fireproof without destroying its properties as wood.

Might Be Good Idea

Everyone In Japan Compelled To Carry Identification Disc

"Where's your identification disc?" In the near future you may be stopped by a policeman and asked this question. And if you can't produce the disc, it may mean a police court summons and a fine, says a writer in Answers. This may sound far-fetched, but a coroner remarked the other day that it would be a good thing if everybody carried an identification disc of some kind, and was informed a police officer that this was compulsory in Japan. There everyone wears such a disc around the neck from birth onwards. Apart from the convenience in accident cases, it would also be a safeguard against loss of memory, of which there have been many instances.

"The Southern Alberta beet crop, from present indications, especially from the Raymond District, promises to be the largest tonnage on record," says the Lethbridge Herald, "despite the reduction in acreage due to loss from heavy rains and floods during the early spring. Making Amazing Progress

Use Of English Has Outstripped All Other Languages

The amazing growth of the English language, surpassing that of any other during the past 100 years, was illustrated by statistics compiled by a newspaper published at Zurich, Switzerland.

English was spoken by less than 20,000,000 persons in 1830, the statistics showed, while at present no less than 100,000,000 people speak it natively, while an additional 60,000,000 understand it but do not consider it their native tongue.

The newspapers said that the rate of increase far outstripped all other languages and that there is no part of the world where the language is not spoken today.

The ashes of Bliss Carman, who was Canada's greatest poet, now rest in a concrete tomb at the family burial plot at Forest Hill Cemetery, Fredericton, overlooking the city where he was born.

The ashes were brought from New Canaan, Connecticut, where he died, to Fredericton, and committed to their last resting place following a memorial service arranged by the Government of New Brunswick, and attended by distinguished men and women from many parts of Canada and the United States. One of Carman's best known poems was sung during the service at Christ Church Cathedral.

A GREAT MATHEMATICIAN

Professors Amazed By Rapid Mental Calculation Of Young Russian Woman

The world's most marvellous woman mathematician has been discovered in the person of Nina Glagoliva, 22 years old, who does in her mind, in from two to 20 seconds, mathematical problems which require hours of experts to do, in the ordinary way, with pencil and paper.

This wonder woman has been discovered after a wide survey, and scientists are amazed at her lightning-like mental calculations. Before a commission consisting of Professor Kozhevnikov and Professor Chirskiy, mathematicians; Kojinskiy, the engineer, and Dr. Kiselev, a physician, Miss Glagoliva was apparently little effort, extracted the root in the ninth degree of numbers with as many as 20 digits. Squaring and cubing numbers of 9 or 10 digits seemed no harder to her than the multiplication table to ordinary humans. Her memory is remarkable and she can repeat, having heard them only once, long lists of words in languages she does not know. The commission pronounce this woman of Russian birth, greater than Arago or other prodigies on record.

May Make Icebergs

Visible At Night

Expert Making Series Of Experiments To Ensure Safer Navigation

Dr. Howard T. Barnes, internationally known ice-engineering expert, was at McGill University for a few days while his experimental ship, "The Ulvira," was undergoing repairs and refitting before starting out for a series of experiments in the Bay of Fundy.

Dr. Barnes stated that he had just completed three weeks of experimental work in the detection of icebergs at night in the vicinity of Newfoundland and Labrador, doing considerable photographic work for further experimental study in the laboratories at McGill.

To develop methods of making the icebergs visible at night is the objective of Dr. Barnes' present investigations. If he is successful, ships will be able to proceed at full speed either in darkness or fog in the vicinity of icebergs without danger of collision. This he hopes will make the St. Lawrence route to Europe even safer than at present.

Petition For New Judicial District

Very Necessary To The Pas Say Members Of Bar Association

Members of The Pas Bar Association will petition the provincial government to make a new judicial district there comprising all the territory north of Township 44, in Manitoba, according to a decision made at a meeting of the barristers.

It was pointed out that it was of great importance to The Pas to have a judicial district. The lawyers do not ask that a resident judge be appointed, since the number of work is not yet sufficient to make such a course necessary, but they do feel that, in the interests of the north, a judicial district here is necessary.

TEACHING THE LAW OF GOD

Golden Text: "The opening of Thy words giveth light."—Psalm 119.130.
Lesson: Nehemiah 1:1-18.
Devotional Reading: Psalm 119. 97-104.

Explanations and Comments

The Reading Of The Law By Ezra, verses 1-8. The first day of the seventh month is the day which from the time of Alexander the Great, has been celebrated by the Jews as their New Year's Day. On this day occurred the festival known as the Feast of Trumpets, which was observed with special rites; see Lev. 23.24, 25; Num. 29.1-6. In the year 445 B.C., on this day (Neh. 7.73), the people of Jerusalem assembled in the broad place before the water gate, and Ezra, the priest and scribe, read to them the Book of the Law of Moses. "In Ezra the title of 'scribe' came to mean 'the man of the book.' It is evident that the scribes were the nearest originals of the clergy of later times."—Dean Stanley. Exactly to what the phrase, the Book of the Law of Moses, refers is a disputed question among scholars. The entire Pentateuch, some believe; the legislative portions only of the Pentateuch, others maintain.

Ezra stood upon a wooden platform above the people and was aided by thirteen Levites, who gave the reading. Evidently Ezra read the Law sentence by sentence, and briefly expounded it, and then the Levites made the explanation clear to the people. Men, women, and children, old enough to understand, listened attentively to the reading from early morning until midday. On account of the heat they had their customary rest during the noon hour. To the reading the people responded with Amen. Amen (So be it), with a lifting up of the hands, expression with the palms upward in supplication for the divine blessing, and then they bowed their heads and worshipped Jehovah with their faces to the ground.

The Effect Of The Reading Of The Law verse 9-18. By Ezra's inspiration and under his guidance the Law was now for the first time put before the Jews in such a way as to convince them that it was the most important thing in the world that their lives should be conducted wholly in accordance with its precepts.—A. S. Peake.

Nehemiah the governor, Ezra the priest and the Levites said to the people: "This day is holy unto Jehovah your God; mourn not, nor weep," for this day has been made the day of the new moon and of the blowing of trumpets, and also because of the reading of the Law. The people Comforted, verses 12-18. "Go your way, eat the fat and drink the sweet," counselled Nehemiah, using a proverbial expression meaning "Do not fast or mourn." "And send portions unto him for whom nothing is prepared."

New Means Of Solving Crime

Creator Of Sherlock Holmes Speaks Of Impressions Of Mediums

In the well equipped police station of the future a trained clairvoyant would be part of the detective department, according to the creator of "Sherlock Holmes." The Sir Arthur Conan Doyle discussed the possibilities of a clairvoyant or a psychometrist helping in the solution of the Rohmben mystery and other puzzling cases confronting detectives throughout the world. He envisioned a day when criminals would have to destroy everything used in carrying out crime, otherwise a psychometrist would "sense" clues and hand them to detectives.

"Although I do not think anyone could ever be convicted on the knowledge or evidence of a clairvoyant, I do believe the latter can find clues which the police fail," Sir Arthur said.

"The proper term is psychometrist, the work having nothing to do with spiritism. It is purely a matter of the medium's own latent powers."

Sir Arthur gave as an example the finding of a blood-stained knife. The psychometrist, called to the scene, would inform the detective thus: "I have a strong impression of a man with a long black mustache, wearing a brown suit."

According to Sir Arthur this would give the detective something to work on, as no matter how skillful the detective was, he could not have received an impression of the man's appearance from seeing the knife.

Germany, the United States, the United Kingdom and France together, exported $800,000,000 worth of chemicals and allied products in 1928.

GREAT BRITAIN'S FOREIGN POLICY ONE OF PEACE

Victoria.—Great Britain's foreign policy has never been one of subservience to France, but one for the preservation of peace in Europe, Rt. Hon. Winston Churchill, former chancellor of the exchequer in the Baldwin Government, declared here.

He was addressing a luncheon given in his honor, where nearly 1,000 persons greeted him enthusiastically. The gathering was sponsored by the Canadian Club and National Council of Education.

He had gathered, said Mr. Churchill, that there had been tendencies to misrepresent the foreign policy of which he spoke. Britain had never recognized, he recalled, that reconciliation between France and Germany was the primary objective of European diplomats and leaders. All other problems were of lesser importance. Through the treaty of Locarno the bringing of these two nations into closer comradeship had been attained.

"We have always been anxious that Germany should resume her place in the family of Europe, and that has been achieved. Not that we did that at the expense of the allies with whom we stood side by side during those long war years," he said. "Our policy in Europe has been clear, keen, and consistent."

Britain had very old and highly valued associations with Japan, he said, dealing with the policy in the east. He had always found his confidence in the government of Japan strengthened by all its conduct.

In broadening the Anglo-Japanese alliance at Washington to include the United States, the Pacific ocean had been placed in a position of security that did not belie its name.

"I think you will agree the British policy in China has been successful," he declared, pointing out that a very difficult period had been passed through and consolidation was now in sight.

Reduce Running Time

Canadian National To Consider Matter Of Increasing Speed From Montreal To Vancouver

Winnipeg, Man.—Immediate consideration is being given the matter of cutting the running time of Canadian National trains from Montreal to Vancouver in conformity with the proposed cut of 10 hours for transcontinental trains by the Canadian Pacific, as recently announced by President Beatty, according to a statement made by Sir Henry Thornton, K.B.E., president of the Canadian National Railways, just prior to his departure for Montreal.

The president who was accompanied by Lady Thornton, left on his special train for the east. This marks the conclusion of Sir Henry's annual tour of western lines, in the course of which, he said, he had once more had occasion to note with admiration the optimism of Canadians in the west under trying circumstances.

He referred to the adverse crop conditions. While a national disaster had been narrowly averted, the morale of the westerner had not been affected. Nor had the faith of the Canadian National in the west, he added, stating that the plans for expansion which had been in progress would be continued while new ones were being considered.

Valuation Of Beech Property

Holdings Of Pioneer Homesteader At Fort Churchill Are Appraised

The Past Man.—The heirs of the late Capt. William Beech, pioneer homesteader at Fort Churchill, accompanied by their solicitors have arrived from the Hudson Bay port. The party had gone north to obtain an expert valuation of the property, which is now the subject of exchequer court proceedings.

Nothing was divulged in regard to the valuation placed on the 3000 odd acres held by the Beech family at Churchill.

The case will come before a court hearing in Winnipeg about the end of the month.

Big Aviation Event

Important Race For Aviators May Be Held In Canada

Toronto.—The rapid development of air navigation in Canada during the past few years promises to culminate in an aviation event in this country which, it is expected here, will rival in importance the race for the Schneider cup, now the international classic of Europe.

In view of the fact, as a result of the training received in the war, Canada numbers a considerable body of expert air navigators, and in view of the inevitable tendency towards international air meets, C. O. Stillman, president of the Imperial Oil Company, has made an informal announcement to the effect that his company contemplates a contribution of $50,000 for the purpose of promoting an international race to be called "The Imperial Oil Derby."

This race will begin at some prominent flying centre in the United States, and end at a Canadian field on some date next year to be announced later.

The amount suggested as prizes is said to be far in excess of any inducement yet offered on this continent for an air race, and it is bound to attract the attention of pilots and the most modern machines not only of Canada and the United States, but of other countries.

Western Air Mail

Service Expected To Commence About October First

Ottawa.—Inauguration of 1,250 miles of air mail service on the prairies is expected about Oct. 1, linking Winnipeg with Cammore, Alta. and thereby saving a day's time between the two points. G. Herring, chief superintendent of the Dominion Air Mail Service, is now in the west making arrangements with the Western Canada Airways Company, of Winnipeg, while Hon. P. J. Veniot, postmaster-general, plans to go to Winnipeg to officiate at the formal opening of the service.

There are two routes planned for daily service, it was learned at the postmaster-general's department, the one from Winnipeg via Regina, Moose Jaw, Calgary and Cammore, and the other from Regina via Saskatoon and North Battleford to Edmonton.

Next year, it is indicated, the air mail service will likely be established across the Rockies to the Pacific Coast, giving practically a Dominion-wide air mail service from Rimouski in the Gulf of St. Lawrence and the arrival of ships from Europe.

Canada's National Parks

American Visitor Thinks Parks Of British Columbia Ahead Of Those In United States

Washington.—A trip through the Canadian Rocky Mountain National Park has convinced Mayor Ralph Bauer, of Lynn, Mass., that the management and upkeep of the British Columbia park is far ahead of the American National Parks, which he also has toured. He has written a letter to Senator David I. Walsh, to this effect, and the senator has asked the national park service to investigate.

Mayor Bauer stated that the Canadian roads were better made, and wider and were well oiled. There was no charge for admittance and the whole reservation seemed to be run for the people to whom it belongs rather than for concessionaires "in an effort to bleed the people to the last dollar possible."

Milk Shortage In Ontario

Toronto, Ont.—Dry weather may bring a milk shortage in Ontario, according to George H. Barr, provincial dairying director. Toronto milk dealers have announced an advance in price of one cent a quart. John Carroll, of the Department of Agriculture, states that heavy crop losses may be the result from the most extreme spell in years.

Grows Apples In Saskatoon

Saskatoon, Sask.—Applies that compare favorably in size and taste with those grown in British Columbia, have been produced this year in Saskatoon. George Pow, of this city, has a two-year-old tree that produced more than 400 good-looking Blushed Caville apples. He also grows cherries and plums in his back yard.

Java Sugar Arrives

Montreal.—With the first shipment of sugar from Java for Canada, in at least 20 years, the S.S. Clain Elene, arrived at Montreal with 73,000 bags from Tjilatjap, on the south coast of Java. The steamer made the journey in 48 days, sailing from Tjilatjap on July 13.

British Settlers For Coast Province

$400,000,000 Is Received For Purpose Of Facilitating Plan

London, Eng.—The required sum of $400,000,000 for the establishment of the Empire Development Corporation is assured, according to an assertion by Dr. C. T. Galbraith, in London newspapers recently—an assertion that is causing much rejoicing in official quarters. Dr. Galbraith is here in connection with the movement of settlers from the Old Country to British Columbia.

Dr. Galbraith says it is proposed that the corporation should acquire 20,000,000 acres in British Columbia and settle there 20,000 British families.

Premier Tominé has requested Mr. Thomas to send a representative to British Columbia, he declared, "and I am only waiting the approval of the scheme by Premier MacDonald, Lord Passfield, Mr. Thomas and Premier Tominé."

"It is proposed that the governments of Britain and British Columbia should have representatives on advisory boards and that British and Canadian trades unions also will have representatives. Opportunities to co-operate would be offered to organizations carrying on empire settlement operations."

CANADA TAKES IMPORTANT STEP AT WORLD COURT

Geneva.—Canada is first among the British Dominions formally to declare adhesion to the optional clause of the world court, which provides for compulsory arbitration of international disputes.

Chairs rang through the Hall of Reformation when Senator Raoul Dandurand, leader of the Canadian delegation, made this declaration to the tenth assembly of the League of Nations. As he left the tribune, the premiers of both Great Britain and France joined with those offering congratulations.

From Senator Dandurand's statement it was clear the Canadian declaration did not come as a result of the recent discussion between delegates of the Dominions and Great Britain, or in consequence of Premier Ramsay MacDonald's similar declaration in behalf of Britain. Since the day Premier Mackenzie King, of Canada, sent the League his statement of March 10, 1925, that the Canadian Government was prepared to accept compulsory jurisdiction of the Court of International Justice in justifiable disputes, Canada has never faltered, Senator Dandurand emphasized.

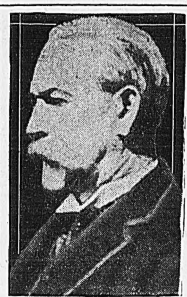

Other dominions which are members of the League, likewise are preparing to make their declarations of adhesion, but there still remains the problem of reservations. In an endeavor to reach a common understanding the Dominion's representatives again met the representatives of Britain, Australia and New Zealand, too, may have a reservation but it is unlikely it will be made as far reaching as those out of the Antipodes. The Irish Free State and South Africa, are understood to be like New Zealand, but have reservations. Among suggested reservations is a provision that compulsory reference to the international court would not apply to disputes between units of the British Commonwealth.

Eighteen Day Trail Ride

The remote Columbia Ice Fields, north of Lake Louise, was the objective this year of the major Trail Ride of the season. These fields are claimed to be the largest body of ice south of the Arctic Circle, covering 260 square miles in area, whose waters flow in to three oceans. Only experienced trail riders are permitted to take this strenuous trip for which they must possess at least the silver button emblematic of 100 miles of trail riding. The trip from start to finish took eighteen days to complete. Picture shows two of the hardy trail riders, W. L. Payne, London, England, and Louis Prevost, of Montreal with Guy Thomas, Brewster's guide, on right, together with a section of the Columbia Ice Fields.

Trans-Canada Telephone

Line From Halifax To Vancouver To Be In Operation Soon

Edmonton, Alberta.—Within two years a trans-Canada telephone line will be completed from Halifax to Vancouver, and Canadians will be able to talk from coast to coast over an all-Canadian wire, delegates to the ninth annual convention of the Telephone Association of Canada, were told during their five-day meeting at Jasper recently.

The line, it was explained, will cost $10,000,000. Already it is possible to talk by telephone between the different provinces, but for conversation over a greater distance United States lines must be utilized.

Some 72 delegates from every telephone system in Canada attended the convention, and many phases of the telephone business were discussed.

Succeeding Hon. Vernon W. Smith, Minister of Railways and Telephones for Alberta, James Hamilton, general manager of the B. C. Telephone Company, Vancouver, was elected president of the association. Other officers chosen were: Vice-President, John E. Lowery, commissioner of the Manitoba Telephone System, Winnipeg; permanent secretary, A. M. Mitchell, auditor of the Alberta Government Telephones, Edmonton.

St. Johns, New Brunswick, was selected as the association's convention city for 1930.

Hon. R. B. Bennett In Ottawa

Returns To East After Five Weeks' Tour Of British Columbia

Ottawa, Ont.—Hon. R. B. Bennett, opposition leader in the House of Commons, returned to the capital from a five weeks' tour of British Columbia, in the course of which he delivered more than 60 addresses. The Conservative chieftain returned more impressed than ever with the achievements and potentialities of the Pacific coast provinces. He said, however, the failure of the present government to provide adequate protection was imperiling the fruit growing districts, where, he said, the growers, unable to find home markets, were sending carloads of fruit to the United States on consignment—willing to take any price.

Gardiner Government

Goes Down To Defeat

Remarkable Political Situation In Saskatchewan Ends With Want Of Confidence Vote

Regina.—The Liberal Government in Saskatchewan after a tenure of office of 24 years, went down to defeat on the floor of the Legislature on a vote of want of confidence. The defeat was brought about by the elected representatives of the people, Conservatives, Progressives and Independents joining together on the want of confidence vote.

The official count of the vote was: Opposition, 34; Government, 27. Only one member of the House was absent when the vote was taken, namely, D. A. Hall, the Liberal member for Cumberland.

Mr. Gardiner closed the debate on the want of confidence motion for the Government, and was followed by E. S. Whitley, Progressive member for Kindersley, who made a short statement indicating the attitude of the Progressive members on the constitutional issues raised, and that they intended to support the motion.

A. C. Stewart, Independent member for Yorkton, followed Mr. Whitley, and stated that the Independent group would also vote for the amendment.

No member of the Conservative group spoke on the amendment, and at the conclusion of Mr. Stewart's speech the Speaker called for the vote.

Infantile Paralysis In East

Quebec Schools Delay Opening On Account Of Outbreak

Quebec.—Due to the outbreak of infantile paralysis in this district, it was decided by the Protestant Board of School Commissioners to postpone the opening of schools until Sept. 16. Schools in this city generally open the first week in September.

Dr. Alphonse Lessard, director of the provincial hygiene department, announced that the department was in a position to supply convalescent serum to combat the disease, but in the event of urgent need would endeavor to secure a supply.

GOOD PROGRESS IS SHOWN IN GARNERING CROP

Ottawa.—Crop reports received from the three prairie provinces indicate excellent progress in the harvesting of the wheat crop. The bulletin issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics contains reports from the agriculture departments of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta. The crop is practically all cut in southern Manitoba, and threshing is about 60 per cent. done in that part of the province.

A few fields still stand in the north. Splendid progress has been made with harvesting in Saskatchewan. Ninety per cent. of the wheat has been cut in Alberta, 60 per cent. of the oats and barley, and harvesting weather has been very favorable. Light frosts in scattered districts have done no harm to the Alberta crop. Estimates of the yield vary.

In Manitoba, wheat averaging from five to 25 bushels is reported. The average in Saskatchewan is nine to ten bushels.

The report for Saskatchewan follows: Splendid progress made with harvesting operations. Wheat cutting nearly completed and about 75 per cent. of coarse grains.

From the Dominion experimental station, Swift Current: Thirty per cent. of threshing done; average nine to 10 bushels. Small amount of oats and barley threshed. Oat crop mostly will be used for sheep feed. Yields poor.

Winnipeg.—Western Canadian farmers, sowing rest over the holiday week-end, sent marketing figures for Monday and Tuesday (Sept. 2 and 3), to a high total. Figures issued by Canada's two great railways showed that marketings for the two days reached a mark near 7,000,000 bushels.

On Canadian Pacific Railway lines 4,672,000 bushels were piled into bins ready for shipment, and Canadian National Railway points marketed 2,127,000 bushels. Storage at Vancouver and at the head of the lakes rose to 4,438,736 bushels and 58,020,000 bushels, respectively. Storage in country elevators increased 756,000 bushels. During the past four days grain has been moving through terminals east and west.

THE SITUATION IN PALESTINE IS MORE SERIOUS

Jerusalem.—Moslem Arabs throughout the Holy Land and the bordering states are being called upon by highly inflammatory propaganda to revolt and move against the government of Palestine.

Floods of this propaganda material were said to have emanated from Jeddah, Haifa, Egypt, Damascus, Beirut and Aleppo and have been instrumental in the smouldering of renewed discontent which some regard as portentous.

One of the proclamations in circulation among the Arabs heralded a "holy war" and called upon Arabs to help Arab insurgents in Palestine, whose condition was described in the blackest terms.

Although Jerusalem was quiet, British troops continued their incessant clashes with bands of tribesmen who have penetrated the Palestine borders.

Reports persisted, despite official denials, that skirmishes with Bedouins have occurred near Beer-sheva, in which six native Christians have been killed.

Jews, who held the first proclamation of the high commissioner, Sir John Chancellors, as aiding and abetting their cause, were not so joyful over a second proclamation by the high commissioner, which announced constitution of special courts presided over by British judges to try the criminal cases among both Jews and Arabs, growing out of the recent disturbances.

London.—The situation in Palestine continues grave in communities where no troops have been sent, according to advices received by the Exchange Telegraph agent at Cairo. Aeroplanes have killed five and wounded 20 at Nablus.

At Haifa Jewish shops are still closed. The situation is calm, however, and people are resuming work. Curfew regulations are maintained and troops patrol the streets nightly. Jews and Arabs are boycotting each other. The Anglo-Palestine Bank, which is Jewish, refused bills of credit to Arabs while Arabs are boycotting the Rutenberg electricity company and the Jewish bank.

Following the repulse of Bedouin tribesmen by the British at Safed and Samakh, 40 wounded have arrived at Haifa. Aeroplanes have repulsed Arab forces endeavoring to attack Tiberias, and Arab losses are believed to be heavy.

Would Ask For Assurance

Premier MacDonald Should Have No Political Worries When He Visits States

London, Eng.—Discussing Premier Ramsay MacDonald's statement at Geneva, that the home parliamentary situation might possibly interfere with his trip to Washington, the Liberal newspaper, the Star, suggests editorially that opposition leaders give the Premier, before he leaves, firm assurance that the exigencies he fears will not arise and that when he goes to Washington it will not be as the leader of the Labor Government, but as the spokesman of the whole nation on the vital issues concerned.

Speaking of the possibility of his trip, the Premier pointed out the difficulty of the leader of a party without a clear majority being out of the country while parliament was sitting.

Returns From Arctic Trip

Steamer Beothic Back From Eight Thousand Mile Voyage

North Sydney, N.S.—The sealer "Beothic," back from eight thousand miles, and six weeks of threading the eastern archipelago of Canada's Arctic sea, arrived here recently. Scientists and the evidence of their discoveries in the north, welfare workers among the Eskimos, and members of the Canadian Mounted Police, back to civilization from their patrol of the world's loneliest sea, were on deck when the Department of the Interior's all-purpose supply boat docked here.

Among them is J. D. Soper, Canadian government naturalist, bringing with him to Ottawa the first blue goose ever seen by man.

Invitation For Ramsay MacDonald Washington.—The American Federation of Labor will invite Premier Ramsay MacDonald to attend its 49th annual convention at Toronto, which begins on October 7. If it is found convenient for Mr. MacDonald to do so.

Growth of Canada

Member of New York Stock Exchange Sees Great Future For This Dominion

In a recent issue of their monthly survey, a well known financial house, members of the New York Stock Exchange, states in part: "Canada has been called one of the most fortunately situated countries in the world. Possibly the best evidence of this is to be seen in the steady growth during the past several years in agriculture, mining, forestry, power, railway earnings, foreign trade, bank deposits and in the maintenance of a high standard of living at a low cost. The gains in industry and trade are in many respects comparable to developments in the United States at the turn of the century."

"Guesswork regarding the future development of Canada, may, as was the case in the United States, run far short of the actual facts. The general impression that Canada is capable of development only over a narrow strip is not tenable. Northern Canada is an amazing country in future wealth. Gold and silver, iron, copper and nickel deposits are extensive, and the territory subject to future development is vast. The north country is not new so far as settlement goes, but it is far from adequate development."

"Although the population of Canada is still under 10,000,000 she maintains a high place among the leading commercial nations. No country exports a greater amount of wheat, newspaper, paper, nickel and asbestos. In the export of wheat Canada holds second place, and is third among the nations in the export of wood pulp. In addition, a high position is occupied in the export of such staple products as lumber and timber, fish, and meat products, cattle, hides and leather products, raw furs, copper, gold, lead, etc."

A Never Ending Task

Tiny Tree Creeper Works All Day and Every Day

It is most entertaining to watch a tree creeper at work. One of these birds was noticed by a naturalist some time ago, working on a great old elm, half smothered by strangling ivy. This tiny bird usually performs its performance at the bottom of a tree, creeping round and round like a spider. The round-about journey is made in short, jerky movements, with constant stops to pick out insects from the crevices of the bark. The one under view completed its spiral ascent in about two minutes. Naming the insects obtained would be rather a difficult task because some of them are too small to be seen without the aid of a magnifying glass. On arriving at the top the adroit climber went down to another tree and commenced climbing again. It is a never-ending task performed almost in silence. It appears to climb all day long and every day.

Satisfied With Treaty

Premier Mahmoud Pasha, of Egypt, recently returned from London, addressing 7,000 Egyptians at Alexandria, said that the new Anglo-Egyptian treaty allowed the 22 years of mutual misunderstandings and suspicions between Egypt and Great Britain. He prophesied that Britain in a few years would remove entirely her troops from the Suez Canal.

How Fashions Change

Bizarre Costumes Affected By the Good People of Sixty Years Ago

At the opening of the Victoria Fair, not long ago, Premier Tolmie recalled the first fair held there, 68 years before. The ladies then wore crinolines and small, neat bonnets tied under the chin with a wide ribbon. Dinky little parasols were held ridiculously over the shoulder. Their movements were slow, graceful, charming. If they hurried, the frilled lace edge of a panaloette flashed for a moment round a dainty nape.

The men's costumes were also bizarre. It was the halcyon age which gave the world the stove-pipe hat: a real stove-pipe shape with narrow edge. Full bellied and whiskers were in mode, for Mr. Gillette had not yet brought his gift to mankind. Some of the young bucks shaved the chin, but made up for this nakedness by sweeping Dumrearies. High, stiff collars of stocks surrounded velvet vests of gaudy colour; coats were mainly black, but often a bright blue or crimson, with large brass buttons. Gentlemen's pants were pulled on with the help of a shoe-born, braced up high, and also fastened under the instep.

Nowadays the Victoria fair grounds are crowded with no such sights. We are more sedate. Maidens with wind-blown bows, no hats, no stockings, a wispy of a sleeveless dress and a wrist watch wander about among the sidewalks accompanied by youths in collared, sleeveless shirts, jazz jumpers, acres of violently checked plus-four pants and hose that look as if lightning had struck the woolen mill where they were woven.

Fashions change, but the wind-blown bows and the jazz jumpers take the same keen interest in the fat lady, the tattooed man, the human midgits, the sword-swallowers, and the fortune-tellers as did the crinolines and stove-pipe hats of sixty-eight years ago.—Free Press.

Superstition Is Common

Nearly Every Person Has Ideas About Good and Bad Luck

A woman recently died because her superstition would not allow her to call in a doctor on Friday. Saturday was too late. That superstition is still alive, is to some extent proven by the fact that hundreds of thousands of people still consider that it is unlucky to walk under ladders. That it is unlucky to spill salt. That three candles on a table bring bad luck. That crossed knives spell unhappiness. That to cut one's nails on a Friday is to court disaster. That the new moon brings good luck is an event. That to open an umbrella in the house means misfortune. Similarly, how many Londoners do not believe that it is lucky for a black cat to cross one's path, or that to fall upstairs spells a wedding? The war-time superstition of three good friends makes a soldier believe there are probably several million people in England today who exclaim "Touch Wood" on the slightest provocation. In the country villages of England, the inhabitants firmly believe that to see a white horse means the presence in the vicinity of a red-headed girl, who is a cross-eyed village girl, still an object of suspicion to be combated by crossed fingers and a whispered incantation. Sailors and Irishmen are unanimously awarded pride of place among believers in the superstitions, nevertheless the Londoner is hard to beat.

Min'g In Northern Saskatchewan

Diamond drills will soon be working on the Mammoth group of claims in Northern Saskatchewan. It is reported that the major portion of the equipment has already been moved onto the property which has been optioned by Consolidated Smelters. The Mammoth group is situated about 35 miles northwest of Stanley Mission on the Churchill River.

Increase In Air Mail Carried

Canadian Colonial Airways carried 12,585 pounds of mail during the month of July, which is a slight increase over June figures. During the second quarter, the total carryings southbound from Montreal to Albany amounted to 4,967 pounds, though the northbound movement from New York was greatly in excess of this figure.

Doctors Say Canned

Food Is Wholesome

Research Shows It To Be As Good As When Fresh

In the minds of many people there is an old-established prejudice, to some extent fostered in the past by the medical profession, against the consumption of tinned foods, on the ground that they may be productive of some form of ptomaine or microbe poisoning. As a matter of fact, there is really no risk at all. More recent medical opinion has emphatically and authoritatively declared, after exhaustive research, that, whatever may once have been the case, modern methods of canning are so perfect that tinned foods are as perfect as those which are now absolutely above suspicion, and, moreover, that they contain at least as large a proportion of the necessary vitamins as the same food when fresh and unprocessed. The case for tinned foods as wholesome and nutritious articles of diet is, in fact, definitely established.

Originated Income Tax

Dr. Henry Becke, An Oxford Don, Is Responsible For Idea

It is a curious fact that income tax was "invented" by an Oxford Don, Dr. Henry Becke, a fellow of Oriel College, who afterwards became Dean of Bristol. Becke was Professor of Modern History at Oxford, though his real forte was finance, and he frequently assisted Vansittart with the Budget during that statesman's long tenure of the Chancellorship of the Exchequer. Disgruntled tax-payers will learn with grim satisfaction that Dr. Becke came to a sad end. He died in exile at Torquay, whither he had fled for refuge from the "Bristol riots" at the time of the first Reform Bill.

The continued activity in the building trades throughout the whole of Canada finds reflection in the demand for gypsum building materials and in consequence the gypsum industry in Canada is showing excellent progress.

A Job For England

Without Her Help United States Of Europe Will Not Materialize

There are many immediate obstacles to the United States of Europe—nationalism, for example, than which nothing is more alien to the Græco-Roman heritage—but ultimately there is only one obstacle, the antagonism between France and Germany. These two powers have not, it seems, enough inner strength to overcome this obstacle. But with the help of England, who is free from any such antagonism, they can overcome it. There is only one way this help can be given, but it is a very simple way—by being a friend to each alike and not more to one than to the other. This, of itself, should end the antagonism between them; for the one, with England as a friend, will not fear the other, and the other will not dare to assault the one with England as a friend. The United States of Europe will come at England's hands or they will not come at all.—Manchester Guardian.

Famous Vatican Library

Books Are Concealed In Closed Cases and Cabinets

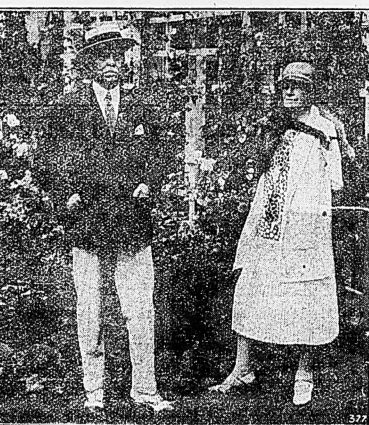

A curious feature of the Vatican Library, in the custody of which Cardinal Eusebius succeeds the late Cardinal Gasquet, is the pains which seem to have been taken to conceal it. You turn aside, in a corridor not far from the Sculpture Gallery, and pass through a glass-pannelled door, screened by a grating. Within is a great chamber, exquisitely decorated, but, at a first glance, without any sign of books. The books are there, however—ten of thousands of priceless volumes—but all in closed cases and cabinets beautifully painted to harmonize with the general scheme of decoration.

Fetes Golden Wedding

Captain James W. Troup, manager of Canadian Pacific British Columbia Coastal service, last month celebrated at one and the same time his golden wedding and the semi-centenary of his debut in British Columbia navigation. He is the eldest of three seafaring sons of Captain W. H. Troup who commanded ships between Panama and San Francisco in the fifties of the last century. James W. Troup was the first white man to navigate the Cascade Rapids, and having filled every position on shipboard before he was 21, knows every mile of water in the British Columbia coast. Photograph was taken of him and Mrs. Troup in the gardens of their home in Victoria.

Shipping Crates For Hogs

Method Of Constructing a Strong and Rigid Crate

The experimental farms ship out a great many hogs for breeding purposes, using individual crates in most cases. In his report for 1928, published by the Department of Agriculture, at Ottawa, the Dominion Animal Husbandman describes the method of constructing a strong and rigid crate that is light in weight. The size of the crate for hogs of different weights are: for hogs up to 75 pounds, 9 inches wide, 2 feet high, and 2 feet 10 inches long; from 75 to 100 pounds the dimensions have to be increased to 10 inches in width 2 feet 2 inches in height, and 3 feet in length. Hogs from 100 to 150 pounds require a crate 1 foot wide, 2 feet 6 inches high, and 3 feet 8 inches long. From 150 to 200 pounds the width should be 1 foot 2 inches, the height 2 feet 6 inches, and length 4 feet.

In constructing a crate it is first necessary to nail the floor firmly into the two floor skids then assemble each side and attach as a unit and nail in one end. The other end should consist of a removable gate set into grooves. Cross pieces should be placed across the top binding the two sides together. Spruce or pine is satisfactory wood to use. The floor skids should be 2 inches square and of the required length, and the lower slats on each side and on the ends should be flush with the floor. The spacing between the side slats should not exceed 2 1/2 inches. There are bound together with two uprights, or to the large crates a third may be placed in the centre.

The crate may be constructed entirely of material five-eighths of an inch in thickness, but for the lower slats on each side wider boards up to 7 or 8 inches may be used according to the experience of the Dominion Animal Husbandman.

Seotsmen Trying To Revive Popularity Of The Kilt

Patriotic Scotsmen are reviving an old-time p for popularization of the kilt on the grounds of comfort and economy. A peer, writing to the British press, claims to have worn the same kilt off and on for 30 years, and he declares it looks as fresh as ever! Other contributors assert that the kilt will outlast many pairs of trousers, and the chief objections of opponents are confined to the difficulty of finding suitable headgear—straw hats, derbies, silk hats and felts being declared unsuitable for the purpose. No one seems to have risen in defence of the bonnet, the appropriate headgear with the Highland garb, and yet it comes nearest to be scantiness of the fashion in which youths are trying to interest their elders of going without head covering at all. It is hardly expected that the champions of the kilt will gain much support outside their own circles. As an everyday dress, the kilt has outlived its use, except as a regimental or picturesque garb. Before the steam engine, the automobile and the aeroplane began to bridge distances and take the rigors out of travel the kilt had claims which could not be denied.—Christian Science Monitor.

Animals As Swimmers

Tigers and Pigs Are Quite At Home In the Water

The animals which fail as swimmers, we are told, are camels, giraffes, llamas, monkeys and kangaroos, but the first two can manage, if their balance is preserved by a boat. Monkeys are often fond of paddling. Kangaroos jump about in the water and will drown a bather if they can by leaping on him. Contrary to the tradition of centuries, pigs are at home in the water, and in times of flood have been known to swim for miles. Among the land animals the tiger stands out as a first-class swimmer.

Grading Flour For Britain

Marketing Under Distinctive Marks Would Increase Demand Is Opinion

The markets branch of the Saskatchewan Department of Agriculture is advised that in the opinion of millers, bakers and others concerned in the manufacture and distribution of flour in Great Britain, the definition of national standards of quality, and the marketing of supplies of standard qualities under distinctive marks would improve the demand for English wheat flour.

It is proposed, therefore, to introduce a scheme for the voluntary grading and marketing of English wheat flour under the Agricultural Products Act, 1928. The national mark will also be used with a grade of standard quality and a trade certificate consisting of growers, manufacturers and distributors has been named by the Minister of Agriculture for Great Britain.

A registered packer (miller) must allow his business premises and all equipment and records to be inspected at any reasonable time by any officer appointed by the minister of agriculture, and when national mark flour is being milled or packed, must allow such officer to be present and take sample of wheat going forward to be milled. The scheme will come into operation on October 1, 1929.

Filming Interior Of

Buckingham Palace

Will Be Used For Picture Dealing With Empire Fruit Trade

Huge are lamps, cameras, and all the paraphernalia of the moving picture have at last invaded Buckingham Palace, where, for the first time in history, interior scenes are being filmed, says the London Daily Sketch. These will be used for a moving picture dealing with the empire fruit trade.

The film will depict a small boy who is taken by a fairy prince to the king's palace. The royal chef is seen stirring a gigantic Christmas pudding, made entirely of empire products in the royal kitchen. Work on the film is still in progress inside the palace.

Pictures will be taken shortly inside the magnificent food and scarlet throne room and the other state apartments. When the film is released the public will have its first opportunity of seeing the interior of the state apartments.

Almost the only section of the palace which will not appear in the film are the private apartments of the king and queen.

Special permission was given by the King for a British film dealing with the empire fruit trade to be made inside the palace during the absence of the court at Sandringham. When the journey to Norfolk was postponed, however, the King decided that the filming should proceed, according to arrangements.

World's Loftiest Capital

Bolivian City Built On Mountain

12,470 Feet Above Sea Level

La Paz, Bolivia, where the people are demonstrating against Paraguay, is the loftiest capital in the world, for it stands on a mountain top 12,470 feet above sea level. This is 2,000 feet higher than Quito, in Ecuador, and 5,000 feet higher than Mexico City. Its nearest rival for height is the far distant Lhasa, which stands at an altitude of 11,830 feet. The mean temperature of La Paz is 50 degrees Fahrenheit. But the cold nights are unrelieved by fireless comforts, as the folk have nothing to burn, neither coal nor trees in the desolate mountain regions around the city.

The Singing Fool

By HUBERT DAIL

Copyright, 1928, Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.

SYNOPSIS

At Stone, the singing waiter and song writer at Blackie Joe's New York night club, is discovered by Marcus, the famous Broadway revue producer. Al insists on helping Molly, the ballad singer at Blackie's, because he loves her. Molly marries him, not loving him, and he pulls her up the ladder of fame. Meanwhile, Grace, the cigarette girl at Blackie's, who loved Al without his knowing it, is left behind. Molly discovers she is to have a baby. She resents this at first, but is reconciled after little Junior arrives. But when she returns to the stage she loses interest in the child. Her romantic interest in John Perry, Al's best friend, is revived and one day Grace sees them riding in Molly's limousine. She also sees the man put his arm possessively about Molly.

CHAPTER XII.

Night on Broadway. The richly dressed limousine crowds had left the theatres and were pouring into the fashionable night clubs. The electric signs on the night clubs blinked, beamed and beckoned. "Here," they seemed to say, "you may find succor from care, here you may eat, drink and be merry until dawn—if you have the price!" Brightest among those indolently beckoning lights was the brilliant sign of the CLUB BOMBO, where Al Stone was part owner and master of ceremonies. What a contrast to the shabby old place where he had once worked—Blackie Joe's! Al often thought of it. And what a contrast between the job he now held and his old one. Once he had been a mere singing waiter, eager for the tips that the none too affluent patrons of Blackie's place threw him when they happened to like his comic songs and his ad lib wise-cracking. Now he was using his fame as Broadway's foremost song writer to pull the shaggy old place where he had once worked—Blackie Joe's! Al often thought of it. Now as Al walked slowly up and down near the doorway, greeting new arrivals, the jazz boys were sending out their plaintive, seductive strains and the floor was crowded with dancers.

The music died away, like a haunting cry echoing down a ravine the lights went out and the couples left the floor. Then the spotlight picked up Al alone on the dance floor, and a roar of applause greeted him. He smiled happily and shook hands with himself—a symbolic gesture indicating that he was shaking hands with everyone.

"Ladies and gentlemen!"—his voice came clear and resonant—"we're all here and I want you to have a good time. Forget the court-curtain and be happy. But before the show starts I want you to know of a few of the celebrities we have present. Here's Dolores Costello, the famous motion picture star; there's Jack Barrymore, who needs no bush. At the right you will see Mayor Walker of our great city."

Finally Al's glance rested on a vacant table that was rather conspicuously placed. This was the special table that he always kept the reserved sign on, the table belonging to Molly and himself. Now he saw a couple stop before it and plead with the head-waiter to let them have it. He moved across the room quickly.

"Sorry, folks," he said, with polite regret, "but this table is always reserved. We'll find you one just as good—don't worry. Herman, see that the lady and gentleman are well seated."

Al gave the waiter a friendly clap on the shoulder and turned away. But when the couple had gone he glanced back toward the table, gazing at it with tender speculation. This was Molly's table and, in a moment, she would be here to occupy it. It must be held inviolate.

This table was somewhat different from the others; it was more tastefully arranged and the flowers on it had been specially selected and placed by Al himself. He was not quite satisfied with them, so he began to rearrange them forgetting his crowd entirely. Then he produced a jeweler's box from his inside coat pocket and slipped it under Molly's napkin. Attached to it was a card which read—"To my darling wife—on her anniversary and mine."

This done, Al looked up, smiling happily, and glanced at his watch. She should be here by now.

At that moment Molly and John Perry were comfortably ensconced in her blue limousine, proceeding with purposeful slowness toward the Club Bombo. Molly had told the chauffeur not to hurry.

She sat leaning against Perry's strong shoulder, while they conversed intimately in whispers. Perry was pleading, but Molly shook her head, although undecidedly.

"John, it's too complicated for me to solve. I love you, but—"

"But what?"

"Well, think of my position. Here I am, with all the money I can spend and all the public applause my nature craves. I'm sitting pretty, you can't deny that."

"I know all that. I've heard it a thousand times. But there's one thing you haven't got and that's important. You have no husband to love you whom you happen to love. Think it over."

Molly sat soberly straight before her, twining and untwining her small, white-gloved fingers.

"Are you falling in love with Al?" whispered the racketeer, banteringly and unbecomingly. "Do you like him more than me?"

Molly shrugged her shoulders impatiently. "We won't go into that—you know the truth. The point is, Al has put me over. I wouldn't be famous if it wasn't for him. I'm no sap—I know that. That's why I've stuck to him so long. If I quit him he'll turn on me and where will I be? Just a girl who will drift back into the unknown."

"Nonsense, Molly!" exclaimed Perry. "You're a star in your own right. Besides, is fame everything? Doesn't love count for something?"

"You bet it does!" cried Molly vehemently, and almost bitterly. "I didn't think so I would never have let you come near me."

John Perry smiled. He knew the cool, calculating, ambitious Molly was mad about him. But he was mad about her, too. At first his interest had been the lightest of heart affairs for the highest of philanthropers, but gradually the situation had changed. To his own amazement a longing for Molly possessed him; now he found himself willing to dare anything to get her.

Suddenly she turned to him and said gravely, "What about my baby—what about Junior?"

But Perry had no answer to that; he merely shrugged his shoulders. He wanted Molly to himself, without any entanglements. Molly gave a tired smile and fixed her gaze on the broad back of the chauffeur, just ahead. How much did that man know of her interest in John?

Her unspoken words were cut short as Perry's arm went around her, and she felt herself drawn relentlessly toward him. In the dark compartment of the limousine her lips were pressed hard against his mouth; his arms were around her like a vise. She forgot Al and Junior, forgot her ambitions, forgot everything but the passionate embrace of the man who held her. She relaxed for a thrilling moment and smiled into the eyes only a few inches from her own. Then she pulled herself abruptly away, for the car was approaching the Club Bombo.

She quickly snatched a jeweled compact from her tiny bag, gazed at herself in the mirror, patted her disarranged hair back into shape. Her rouged lips had been smeared, so she seized Perry's handkerchief, gently wiping off the excess rouge. Meanwhile, the racketeer gazed at her in admiration and brushed her face powder from his top-coat lapel. "You've mussed me terribly."

"Sorry," whispered the imperturbable Perry.

The chauffeur swung open the limousine door and Molly stepped out. Straight ahead she saw Al in the night club doorway, smiling at her expectantly.

Farm Incomes Higher

Average Increased By Seventy-Five Dollars in Year

The average cash income per farm home in the Provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta last year was $2,544, exclusive of the value of seed, feed, meat vegetables and other commodities produced and retained by the farmer for his own requirements. This is an increase of $75 per home over the previous year.

Misrepresenting Canada

Canadian Text Books Need Revising In Some Particulars

School history textbooks written, edited and printed in the United States for use in Canadian schools have of late stirred some impetuosity in Canadian educational circles and beyond, the argument being, quite properly, that Canadian children should not be raised on foreign-made literature which is largely propaganda. Now comes a complaint by no less an authority on the subject he deals with than Vilhjalmur Stefansson, the Arctic explorer, that books written in Canada, presumably by Canadian authors, malign Northern Canada. Mr. Stefansson should know whereof he speaks, and attention may be given by the authorities to his observations. One instance of the misrepresentation the explorer complains of is that the Canadian textbooks say that the temperature in the northern districts rarely rises above the zero point, and in such districts he points out the mercury rises as high as it does in Winnipeg. Places where trees grow one hundred feet high are described to Canadian school children as being "barren," while areas where the verdure is on level with that in Southern Alberta are referred to as "places where moss and lichens are found." Mr. Stefansson looks forward to the production of primary schoolbooks in the north as the next development.

A Farmer's Life

Down on the farm, 'bout half-past four,
 I slip on my pants and sneak out of the door;

Out of the yard I run like the dickens
 To milk ten cows and feed the chickens.

Clean out the barn, curry Nancy and Jiggs.
 Separate the cream and slop all the pigs.

Work two hours, then eat like a Turk.
 And, by heck, I'm ready for a full day's work.

Then I grease the wagon and put on the rack.

Throw a jug of water in an old grain
 sack,
 Hitch up the horses, hustle down the lane.

Must get the grain in, for it looks like rain.

Look over yonder! Sure as I'm born, Cattle on the rampage and cows in the corn!

Start across the meadow, run a mile or two,
 Heaving like I'm wind broke, get wet
 clear through.

Get back to the horses, then for recompense
 Nancy gets straddle the barbed-wire fence.

Joins all a-aching and muscles in a jerk,
 I'm fit as a fiddle for a full day's work.

Work all summer till winter is nigh,
 Then figure up the books and heave a big sigh.

Worked all year, didn't make a thing;
 Got less cash now than I had last spring.

Now, some people tell us that there
 ain't no hell,
 But they never farmed, so they can't tell.

When spring rolls 'round I take another chance,
 While the fringe grows longer on my old gray pants.

Give my spenders a hitch, my belt
 another jerk,
 And, by heck, I'm ready for a full
 year's work.

There is grim humor in the suggestion of a contemporary that alimony is best defined as a war pension.

A Good Showing and May Better Results Follow

The school term has commenced and it behooves those who intend to partake of the facilities offered to take full advantage of them from the start of the term. In some instances this has not been the case, and creates much dissatisfaction and inconvenience to both the teaching staff and trustees.

Results obtained in grades
 viii, ix, x, and xi last year were, we understand, about the highest obtained by any school in the province—an average of 92 per cent. The pupils who passed so successfully are to be commended, and no doubt their parents, teachers and the community at large feel proud of them. Chinook Consolidated School, for the past two years, has reason to feel proud of the progress made, and we sincerely trust that no pupil, from the youngest to the oldest, will be unfaithful to their task or to those instructing them. Many may be of the impression that success or failure lies entirely with their instructors, but such is not the case, for much depends upon the pupil's attentiveness and ability to receive that instruction and make use of it. With the pleasant surroundings that the pupils of this district have with their school building and grounds, we hope to have the pleasure next year of saying "they did not rest on their oars," but "followed through" with even better results than those obtained last term.

A survey of the feed situation in the dry parts of the province, made during the past week by field men of the department of agriculture, shows that there is more hay available for winter supplies than was expected, but that feed oats will be very short. Owing the drought the farmers in general have exerted themselves to cut and store every ton of hay possible, and also because of the dry weather a great quantity of slough hay.

THE FORD CAR REAR AXLEExpense no object in Achieving Perfection

THE rear axle of the Ford car is of the three-quarter floating type with spiral bevel gear. The pinion hub is exceptionally heavy, and, as the pinion is carried on double taper roller bearings, perfect alignment of the gear is always assured. The rear axle has a total of four roller bearings which add considerably to the cost of manufacture but are a protection for the owner against wear.

Special care is taken to insure silence in the pinion and ring gears. These are made up in sets and carefully matched, each set being run in to eliminate all possibility of noise in operation.

The differential side gears are forged integral on the rear axle shafts and the teeth then cut. This permits of lighter and more simple construction. The shafts are unusually strong, and, as the centre line of the wheel comes over the bearings, there is no overhang of the axle shaft, and it has no weight to support.

The use of malleable castings is eliminated in this new axle housing which is made entirely of steel. Bell forgings welded to steel tubing make up the shaft housing which is bolted to an all steel differential housing. The care and skill devoted to the manufacture and assembly of Ford axle parts is typical of the high standards of Ford engineering.

To the Purchasing Public

Your local merchant always has a message for you. When you have read it do not be backward in asking for the SPECIALS he is offering. Often you are a little short of cash you ask him for credit to enable you to send your cash to the mail order houses. Why should you be so afraid to ask to see the goods and get the price from the man who is living in your midst? When you order from a mail order house you help to pay for the catalogue received and have not the privilege of inspecting the goods about to be purchased.

We also wish to remind the purchasing public in general that the home paper can also furnish you with the Printed Stationery needed, and in many instances at prices below outside firms.
